Virtual Institutes

A virtual institute is a knowledge-based, results oriented collaborative innovation network of multidisciplinary individuals, groups and organizations working through a virtual platform to identify, design, and strategize the implementation of national innovation programs for the sustainable socio-economic development of the country.

Virtual Institute

…… is a knowledge-based, market-oriented network designed to facilitate rapid exploitation of R&D results and know-how.

They serve as research & innovation hubs in which new ideas originate, multidisciplinary and multi-sectoral R&D is fostered, diversity is valued, and long-term professional networks are developed to create and share knowledge/ R&D leading to commercialization.

What VIs Deliver

- Bring together complementary research and industrial expertise with the ultimate aim of transferring R&D outcomes into business
- Partnership between the technology developer and the users from the beginning: Jointly involved in ……

Co
- design
- implement
- deliver

→ R&I Results

- End users are not just being passive recipients

…. active partners in the R&I cycle
